The 2nd International Conference on End Stage Lung diseases (ESLDs) will take place in Padua, Italy, on February 22, 2013.

Based on the success of the first international ESLD Conference in Padua, February 2010, the scientific organizing committee is excited to launch its second theme-based scientific conference.

The ESLD Conference will take place every 2 years as a forum of national and international experts in order to share experiences and outline best management for patients. The International ESLDs will focus on progressive lung diseases potentially requiring lung transplantation and the main theme will be Idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis (IPF).

Lung transplantation is the only treatment modality that provides, so far, improved survival in IPF. The efforts of all transplant specialists are directed towards the improvement of very complex transplant management starting from a better understanding of IPF disease. This Conference goes in this direction highlighting that progressive lung diseases, as IPF, represent an important field for all pneumologists but also lung transplant surgeons and all lung specialists involved in diagnosing and treating. Last but not least one of the goals of this meeting is to share experience and provide useful insights for a better lung transplant selection. We would like to thank the whole faculty, the sponsors and the participants for their support and enthusiasm.

We all look forward to see you in Padua.
